Iniciado em	domingo, 10 ago. 2025, 10:50
Estado	Finalizada
Concluída em	segunda-feira, 11 ago. 2025, 01:45
Tempo empregado	14 horas 55 minutos
Avaliar	Ainda não avaliado

Questão 1

Parcialmente correto

Atingiu 0,67 de 2,00

American Literature II concentrates on the literary production between the years of 1865 and 1939 and is divided into three moments. These moments and their characteristics are (Cf. File 1):

Literature represents American reality by portraying experiences as they are in real life.	Naturalim ✖
Setting and especially characters are presented in detail as victims of economic and social environment.	Realistic Period ✖
Narratives demonstrate the disillusionment provoked by First World War.	Modernism ✔

Sua resposta está parcialmente correta.

Você selecionou corretamente 1.
A resposta correta é:
Literature represents American reality by portraying experiences as they are in real life. → Realistic Period,

Setting and especially characters are presented in detail as victims of economic and social environment. → Naturalim,

Narratives demonstrate the disillusionment provoked by First World War. → Modernism.

Questão 2

Parcialmente correto

Atingiu 1,00 de 2,00

Match the sentences in order to learn some facts about REALISM in American Literature (Cf. File 2):

Realism in American Literature started soon after .... ✔	→ the end of the American Civil War in 1865.
In the Civil War, an internal conflict in America, ... ✔	→ Union soldiers from the North fought against Confederate soldiers from the South.,
Realistic literature produced after the Civil War... ✖	→ In some cases, they are presented with their natural dialect.
Portrayal of characters in Realistic literature are more important. ✖	→ reveals aspects such as the amoral aspect of human kind and its consequential misery.

Sua resposta está parcialmente correta.

Você selecionou corretamente 2.
A resposta correta é:
Realism in American Literature started soon after .... → → the end of the American Civil War in 1865.,

In the Civil War, an internal conflict in America, ... → → Union soldiers from the North fought against Confederate soldiers from the South.,,

Realistic literature produced after the Civil War... → → reveals aspects such as the amoral aspect of human kind and its consequential misery.,

Portrayal of characters in Realistic literature are more important. → → In some cases, they are presented with their natural dialect..

Questão 3

Correto

Atingiu 3,00 de 3,00

Consider the following paragraphs, which summarize "Desiree's Baby", and order them according to the correct sequential events in this short story.

Armand accuses Désirée of having Black ancestry. Disturbed, she takes the baby and walks off into the wilderness, never to be seen again.	→ Sequence 3 ✔
Armand and Desiree's marriage, once passionate and loving, turns bitter and resentful when they have a baby who appears to be of mixed race.	→ Sequence 2 ✔
Désirée, an abandoned orphan who was adopted by rich plantation owners. She later marries Armand Aubigny, who owns a neighboring plantation.	→ Sequence 1 ✔
Afterwards, Armand finds a scrap of one of his mother's letters in which she reveals that she is Black.	→ Sequence 4 ✔

Sua resposta está correta.

A resposta correta é:
Armand accuses Désirée of having Black ancestry. Disturbed, she takes the baby and walks off into the wilderness, never to be seen again. → → Sequence 3,

Armand and Desiree's marriage, once passionate and loving, turns bitter and resentful when they have a baby who appears to be of mixed race. → → Sequence 2,

Désirée, an abandoned orphan who was adopted by rich plantation owners. She later marries Armand Aubigny, who owns a neighboring plantation. → → Sequence 1,

Afterwards, Armand finds a scrap of one of his mother's letters in which she reveals that she is Black. → → Sequence 4.

Questão 4

Correto

Atingiu 3,00 de 3,00

The following issues of the XIX century North American society find echo in the short story Desirée's Baby (1893), according to FILE 4:

- [x] Enslaved Africans have become a solution to one of the most difficult problems facing American colonists: cheap labor for the plantations. ✔
- [ ] The institution of black slave trade in the nineteenth century, but not the industrial revolution, contributed to establish slavery in the United States.
- [x] In the 19th century, some black slaves became "objects" of desire of their white "owners". The "mestiço" children born of these relationships, however, had the same privileges as the whites. ✖
- [x] White supremacists justified the concept of property and hard labor for black people based on the ideologies of racial inferiority and racial degeneration. ✔

Sua resposta está correta.

As respostas corretas são:
Enslaved Africans have become a solution to one of the most difficult problems facing American colonists: cheap labor for the plantations.,

White supremacists justified the concept of property and hard labor for black people based on the ideologies of racial inferiority and racial degeneration.

Questão 5

Completo

Vale 2,00 ponto(s).

Explain WITH YOUR OWN WORDS the symbolism involving the protagonist's name (Désirée) and the fact that her son has no name but is referred to with the pronoun "it".

NOTE: Answer in English only.

Désirée, means "desired" in French, symbolizing her status as an object of love/desire. Her name reflects her identity as someone wanted, at least initially, highlighting themes of desire and societal expectations about femininity and beauty. In contrast, her son having no specific name and being referred as "it" symbolizes his lack of individual identity and humanity, and this dehumanization suggests that he is seen more as a mere object rather than a person, reflecting his marginalization.

Questão 6

Completo

Vale 4,00 ponto(s).

In FILE 4, the author says that Kate Chopin before the end of her short story "... dá dicas durante a narrativa sobre a ascendência multirracial de Armand."

Name or quote ONE initial evidence from the narrative that justify this assertion.

NOTE: Answer in English only.

A quick conception of all that this accusation meant for her nerved her with unwonted courage to deny it. "It is a lie; it is not true, I am white! Look at my hair, it is brown; and my eyes are gray, Armand, you know they are gray. And my skin is fair," seizing his wrist. "Look at my hand; whiter than yours, Armand," she laughed hysterically.

The extract highlighted above give us a hint or initial evidence about the multiracial ascendency of Armand.

Questão 7

Completo

Vale 3,00 ponto(s).

Consider FILE 5 and EXPLAIN what sort of IRONY happens at the end of short story involving Armand and the letters he reads.

Note: In English, please.

The irony of 'Désirée's Baby' reveals that Armand, who rejected Désirée and the baby due to suspicion of black ancestry, actually has that background himself, as a letter from his mother confirms his mixed heritage, which makes his racist attitude absurd and hypocritical.

Questão 8

Completo

Vale 6,00 ponto(s).

Forum Question:

"In 'Desiree's Baby' by Kate Chopin, themes of race, identity, and societal perception are intricately woven into the narrative, highlighting the devastating impact of racial prejudice.

- How do you believe these themes resonate with contemporary racial issues in America and Brazil? In your discussion, refer to the influence of systemic racism and white supremacist ideologies in both countries.
- Suggest possible solutions and strategies to combat racial discrimination and promote equality.

NOTE: Students who effectively participated in the Forum will earn full points for this Question. If a student does not participate in the Forum but answers this Question , they will only receive half of the points.

The themes in Kate Chopin's "Désirée's Baby" (racial identity, systemic dehumanization, and the violent consequences of white supremacy) remain relevant in contemporary USA and Brazil, as both nations have deeply entrenched racial hierarchies, though their histories and manifestations differ.

In the USA a systemic racism and white supremacy ("One-Drop Rule" Legacy) reflects Armand's rejection of Désirée and their child mirrors modern colorism and racial essentialism, historically excluded Black Americans from land and home ownership, creating generational wealth disparities. Also the criminal justice, with racial profiling, police brutality (e.g., George Floyd's case), and mass incarceration reflect the dehumanization seen in the story's use of "it" for the biracial child.

In Brazil's "Racial Democracy" Myth there is the denial of structural racism, rooted in the myth of harmonious racial mixing, where dark-skinned Brazilians face exclusion from power, media, and education, and police killing rate is far higher towards black Brazilians than white counterparts, with favelas (Black-majority communities) enduring state neglect, echoing the story's theme of disposability.

The objectification of Black individuals are still fetishized (e.g., sexual stereotypes/Carnival), and the economic exploitation is visible in the U.S. (prison labor echoes slavery) and Brazil (black workers earn less than whites), so dismantling systemic racism requires not just policy, but a cultural reckoning exposed in stories like Chopin's.

Combating racial discrimination and promoting equality requires a multifaceted approach that addresses both individual and systemic manifestations of racism. Some solutions and strategies include recognition and education, affirmative public policies, justice system reform and economic empowerment. It must be stated that the fight against all forms of racism/discrimination is a continuous effort that requires not only commitment but also collective action.